RECEPTION TO FIREFMEN.

Southside Champions Honored by the Ladies.

The patriotic ladies of South Greensboro last evening tendered to the members of the Southside Hose Company a brilliant reception on the lawn at the commodious home of Judge and Mrs. Robt. M. Douglas, on Asheboro street.

The reception was given as a token of appreciation to the Southside fire boys for bringing the championship of the North Carolina State Firemen's Association to that side. The meritorious firemen now feel amply repaid.

The beautiful, spacious lawn at the Douglas home, radiantly lighted by Japanese lanterns and large lamps, presented a lovely scene that, in itself, would have made one feel welcome.

Miss Lucy Jones, the popular captain of the ladies auxiliary of the Southside Hose Company, and Mr. Robert D. Douglas welcomed the guests at the gate, while Mrs. Douglas and the charming young ladies of the auxiliary, wearing their pretty uniform hats, did the receiving on the lawn.

When all the guests had assembled Judge Douglas arose on the porch to deliver a short address of welcome. The speech was a gem. Judge Douglas spoke eloquently and feelingly of the unremunerated work of volunteer firemen and especially of the accomplishments of the Southsiders. He was frequently and heartily applauded. Mr. Donnell and Chief Phipps, of the fire department, made short responses.

The guests remaining on the lawn were then treated to a most enjoyable musical program and to two recitations by the inimitable Miss Susie Stone. Those who furnished the delightful music were Miss Lizzie Crocker, piano, with a baritone accompaniment by Charles Tucker; coon songs by Master Willie Crocker; vocal duet by Miss Sarah Witherspoon and Master Willie Crocker; vocal solo by Wesley White; piano solo by Miss Gertrude Wagg.

At 10:45 o'clock the firemen took their seats around the numerous tables decorated with flowers, arranged in a beautiful spot on the right of the residence.

Here the young ladies served them with delicious cream, cake of various kinds, lemonade and other refreshments in superfluous quantities and when the firemen had fully satisfied the longings of the inner man they exchanged places with their hostesses and served them with refreshments until 11:30 o'clock when the delightful entertainment was at an end.

To Judge and Mrs. Douglas, Miss Madeline Douglas and to the ladies' auxiliary the Southside firemen are hopelessly indebted.

MEETING OF ALDERMEN.

Alderman Shields Resigns—J. M. Hendrix Succeeds Him.

The board of aldermen held a regular meeting last night. All present except Merritt, Vuncannon and Walker. Charles Hiatt, driver of the South Side Hose Company's wagon, was granted police powers without pay.

D. W. Hoffines and the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company asked the extension of the sewer on Buchanan street, so that they could connect their places of business with it. Referred to sewer committee.

Alderman Price moved that the fireman's committee be ordered to look for a suitable site for a building for the fire department.

M. L. Shields filed his resignation as a member of the board of the second ward. The resignation was accepted and the board went into the election of a successor. James M. Hendrix was elected.

Alderman Merrimon moved that a special committee of three be appointed to confer with the board of county commissioners in regard to a lot for the new market house and city hall and to suggest a plan for the structure. The motion was carried, and the Mayor appointed Merrimon, Hunter and Elliott as the committee.

The rate of taxation was fixed the same as last year. The board adjourned to meet tonight.

A Good Man Lost.

The board of aldermen lost a good man when they accepted, very reluctantly, the resignation of Mr. Milton L. Shields of the second ward, an excellent business man and most agreeable gentleman.

Rumored Railroad Deal.

Norfolk, August 11—It is reported that the Southern Railway, tired of paying heavy trackage to the Atlantic Coast Line upon the tracks of the Norfolk and Carolina Railroad, by which it enters Norfolk, has bought the Atlantic and Danville Railroad. The latter is reported to be in bad condition, and if bought by the Southern, has probably been cheaply acquired.

We still have a few dozen pairs of children's and infants' tan and black Oxfords and sandals to sell at cut prices. Come and pick out the size, we will make the price to suit you. Thacker & Brookmann.

M'ARTHUR TAKES A TOWN

A Ten-Mile March Through Waist-Deep Water.

THE MARCH TO PROCEED TO-DAY

Lieutenant Hazard and Five Scouts Driven Back By Seven Hundred Insurgents.

By Cable to the Telegram

Manila, August 12—Advices from Calicut, under date of 11th inst., report that McArthur took the Ninth regiment, a battalion of the Twenty-second infantry, and a detachment of the First artillery from Calicut to Santa Rita yesterday morning. The entrance of the troops was unopposed, the insurgents fleeing as the Americans approached. The march was hard for ten miles through waist-deep water. Many of the soldiers were exhausted. The troops will spend the night at Santa Rita and proceed forward tomorrow.

Lieutenant Hazard, of Wheaton's staff, and five scouts of the Iowa regiment, marched up the railroad into Angeles yesterday. A small force of insurgents attacked the scouts outside the town and Hazard sent for reinforcements. Wheaton's orders were, however, that the Americans should not occupy Angeles, and a force of seven hundred insurgents appearing, Hazard retired.

THE DREYFUS CASE

Mercier's Admission—He was Hooted by the Crowd.

By Cable to the Telegram

Rennes, August 12—After Mercier had denounced Dreyfus for nearly four hours, he concluded by saying that if he had not been convinced of the guilt of Dreyfus, and if the latter's conviction had been fortified since 1894, he would admit that he was mistaken. Dreyfus jumped to his feet and shouted in a trumpet voice, "You ought to say so now!" The audience burst into wild cheers. Mercier replied that he would admit Dreyfus innocent if there was any doubt. The prisoner shouted again, "Why don't you, then?" There was another outburst of cheers, and Mercier was hooted after the adjournment of the court.

A FIZZLE.

Rennes, August 12—Casimir Perier said on the "business stand this morning that Dreyfus lied if he said he had fully informed him of his case. Dreyfus replied with dignity that he did not say he had informed Perier but that he had written him several letters which were perhaps never received. The prisoner seemed a new man, ready to meet any opponent. Mercier testified that General Freycinet told him that the Dreyfus syndicate had raised 35,000 francs in England and Germany to the effect that somebody else might be substituted for Dreyfus if this meant a bomb, it was a fizzle. A laugh swelled through the court room.

COMMUNICATION SHUT OFF.

Paris, August 12—The government has ordered the cutting of all telegraphic and telephonic communication with Rennes.

MERCIER CURSED.

Rennes, August 12—Colonel Janast has ordered the court adjourned till Monday. As Mercier turned to leave the audience rose en masse and hissed and cursed him, those standing at the back of the court standing upon chairs and benches to better hound him.

PEARSON AGAINST CRAWFORD

Much Interest Felt In the Contested Election Case.

PEARSON'S GRAVE CHARGES.

Crawford's Brief Denies the Entire Statement of Pearson and His Associates.

Special to the Telegram

Washington, August 12—Much interest is felt in the contested election case of Pearson against Crawford, the papers of which case are now on file in the office of the clerk of the House of Representatives. Both gentlemen are well known in Washington and have many friends in the city, having both at different times served in the National House, both having been regarded as good friends of the District of Columbia. At the last election Mr. Crawford defeated Mr. Pearson on the face of the returns by the very narrow plurality of 238 votes, and will take the oath of office on the first Monday in December, and will cast the vote as Representative from the Asheville, North Carolina, district at the organization of the House.

Very soon after the election last November, Mr. Pearson instituted proceedings against Mr. Crawford for the seat, basing his contest upon alleged fraudulent counting of votes in the district. He also charges that the democratic party in the district intimidated republican voters, and that a large number of politicians from South Carolina were imported into the State for the purpose of threatening negro voters against voting the republican ticket. He alleges in his contest that Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, whom he characterizes as "an expert in elections" advised North Carolina democrats to come out and shoot, and it is further alleged that in the county where this advice was given, three republicans were killed. Mr. Pearson charges that the campaign was conducted by the democrats with great rancor and bitterness, many lawless acts, bloodshed, and breaches of the peace being committed. Many instances are recorded by Mr. Pearson. In one precinct a man was struck senseless with a stone, two were badly injured by pistol shots and others were wounded by knives and stones. This affray, Mr. Pearson estimates, was worth about fifty votes to him. In another precinct a man was lynched the night before the election. In another precinct a republican worker was badly cut. In another a negro who shouted too loudly, "hurrah for Pearson" was suddenly checked by a severe blow on the mouth and was incapacitated for duty on election day. In addition to this long list of charges, Mr. Pearson in his brief states that on election day the democrats sent out forged letters to republicans telling them that other republicans had various sums to hand them for use at the polls. Mr. Pearson estimates that these forged circulars cost him at least 300 votes in the district. It is also charged that the democrats hired negroes to run for various offices for the purpose of splitting the republican ticket, which, if substantiated, according to Mr. Pearson, would invalidate the whole election.

Mr. Crawford, of course, in his brief denies the entire statement of Mr. Pearson and his associates. He charges Mr. Pearson's defeat to his own unpopularity in the district, and prints as supplements letters and editorials from republican newspapers showing that Pearson's nomination was unsatisfactory. He states that Mr. Pearson's use of money in previous elections gives color to the belief that the letters claimed as forgeries were really sent out in his interest. Mr. Crawford further denies that Senator Tillman's pitchfork speeches had any effect on the election, and he says that the joint debates in the district were singularly free from personalities. Mr. Crawford reviews the various "rows" in the district preceding the election and states that one of the republicans who was reported as being badly wounded has since married, he is happy to state, and is doing well.

Senator Martin, of Virginia, was in the city yesterday. He stated to his friends that he was well pleased with the senatorial outlook in the state, and is as much convinced as ever of his own re-election.

Persons coming from Virginia say that very little interest in the senatorial contest is now manifested in the state, as the defeat of Governor Tyler and the election of Senator Martin is a foregone conclusion.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Boyd, of this city, presiding elder of the Washington district, M. E. church, South, will attend the camp meeting at Loudoun county, and will preach several sermons.

It is announced that Col. James E. Boyd, the assistant attorney general, has accepted an invitation to attend the annual banquet of the Marquette Club, in Chicago, and to respond to a toast. The banquet will be held October 7, and it is thought President McKinley will attend.

Miss Carrie Perry, a very charming and attractive young lady, who has been visiting friends at Alexandria, Va., has returned to her home at Columbia, S. C. She has many friends also in Washington.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL DAY

Of the Yearly Meeting of Friends at High Point.

Special to the Telegram

High Point, August 12—Another successful day of the yearly meeting of Friends came to a close last night at the conclusion of the devotional services.

The morning services began at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. Hughes, of Ohio, occupied the pulpit. There was quite a good crowd out to hear this distinguished speaker. Mr. Hughes is an earnest talker and his words carry with them truth and force.

At 10:30 o'clock the business meeting was called to order, with Prof. Hobbs in the chair. The meeting devoted much time to queries and answers on difficult subjects.

The several reports before the convention were read. The statistical report showed 5,240 members, 234 additions and 120 subtractions for the year. Number of members who use, deal in or raise tobacco, 1818. One member said at a low estimate the church members consumed $10,000 annually for tobacco alone.

The report from the evangelistic committee was read and a collection and subscription of $265 was raised for the work.

The meeting in the evening consisted principally of reading the reports under the head of home and foreign missions. Blue Ridge yearly meeting showed an enrollment of 120 in school, average attendance 43. Total receipts and expenses $37.71. Meeting appropriated $100 and took subscriptions to the amount of $78.97 for the support of this work.

The foreign missionary board made a very satisfactory report and took an offering of $246.75. The meeting is and will be busy during the remaining days with regular routine work which embraces many important reports.

Religious services will be held at night throughout the meeting. Preaching tomorrow morning, evening and at night in the church and at other places on the grounds. Rev. E. W. Hughes, of Wilmington, Ohio, and Rev. Davis, of Indiana, will be among those who will hold services.

People from the surrounding country are coming in in large numbers and the indications are there will be the largest crowd in High Point tomorrow that ever assembled on a like occasion. It is reported that an excursion will be run from Ramseur and other points tomorrow to accommodate the people who wish to attend yearly meeting.

THE CRIME OF FRANCE.

The trial of Captain Dreyfus, of the French army, proceeds. This man is charged with having sold to the Germans the secret of the French shrapnel shells and the secret of their mobilization of army corps. This would have been indeed a very high crime, but the world is satisfied in Dreyfus' innocence. Admitting his guilt, civilized mankind says that the French government was not justified in imposing upon him such inhuman, beastly torture as he has undergone the past few years. In the glow of physical and intellectual manhood, in March, 1895, he was transported to Devil's Island, a barren rock off the coast of French Guinea. Recently brought again to trial, the people saw a shrunken, withered, bent wreck of a man, fearfully diseased in mind and body. His physicians at Rennes on last Tuesday stated that they were compelled to confine him to a diet of milk and eggs, as acute contracted in his foul habitation had so weakened his venal functions that if they gave him anything more nourishing it would at once produce Bright's disease. If this were all, it is enough to arouse universal condemnation of the barbarity of the French government. But it is not half. With brutal frankness, M. Rochefort, one of Dreyfus' persecutors, admits that the soldier was horribly tortured on Devil's Island, even conceding the case of the gyves and the running sores that were produced by them on the poor man's legs. And the majority of the French people gloat over the pitiable details of his sufferings, and rejoice that Frenchmen have had an opportunity to show their delight in torturing a man who had incurred their displeasure.

There is no estimating the blackness of France's crime against Dreyfus. If the whole truth were brought into the light, the world would stand aghast.

If Dreyfus is acquitted, France can never atone for her sin. She can never repay the poor man for that which she has taken from him. And the foul crime adds another black stain to her escutcheon.

A bold and startling move has been made by the Americans in the Philippines toward the interior. Against fearful odds the army has pushed its lines through the reeking wilderness to a point five miles beyond San Fernando. San Fernando lies a mile and a half from Manila.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.

Where Does the Christian and Odd Part Come In?

Correspondence Telegram.
Odd Fellowship—What is it? The following verses of scripture answers the question.

"But a certain Samaritan as he journeyed, came where he was; and when he saw him he had compassion on him, and went to him and bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine, and set him on his own beast, and brought him to an inn, and took care of him. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the host, and said unto him, Take care of him; and whatsoever thou spendest more, when I come again I will repay thee." Luke 10: 33-35.

Having been for years a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and being much impressed with its doctrines and practice, I have decided to try my hand on a bit of a sermon suggested by my subject and text.

If you are sufficiently interested to read the familiar text closely, it will not be difficult for you to see in it, with the mind's eye, the picture of an oddfellow attending to his business. And we may add that the scripture reflects not only the oddfellow, but also the members of similar benevolent organizations.

The story is, that a certain man in going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, typical of life's journey today, fell into the hands of thieves who proceeded to treat him roughly, divesting him of his raiment and taking from him his money; and there they left him on the road "half-dead." While in that condition, the priest came down that way, going to Jericho, perhaps to conduct a prayer meeting. The priest saw the helpless man, made no effort to relieve his necessities, passed by on the other side, and went on to carry on his work of saving souls (?). The Levite, going to Jericho, probably to say amen for the priest, paused a few minutes, "came and looked on him and passed by on the other side." Neither of the two was an odd-fellow. They were snobs and shams. You may find men of this character in the church and other benevolent organizations, but they are not odd-fellows nor Christians. But presently there came the Samaritan. He had a heart in him. The sight of the bleeding, mangled body, appealed to his better nature and he brooded at once with tender and heroic treatment. He didn't pause to ask the man if he belonged to one of the first families, or if he was a Christian, or of what political faith, or might be counted on his vote in the next election. I don't know whether the wine was fermented or unfermented; but I do know, the Samaritan was not long in putting some of it in the wounded man's mouth, after which he placed him on the horse and took him to the inn, where he was cared for at the expense of the Samaritan until he was able for duty. The Samaritan is the odd fellow, the pythian, the mason and the Christian, or any man who does his duty towards humanity. Jesus Christ, in his inimitable style, points the only way, that a man, anywhere, or of any order, may have the right to the honor of being odd-fellow. The odd man is the fellow who doesn't pass on the other side. The priest and the Levite are still with us—so the odd fellow, the Samaritan.

This story was the result of a lawyer's question. Lawyers are good at asking questions. Sometimes though, they wish they hadn't. In this case, however, there is no evidence of discourtesy. The lawyer was polite; they usually are, except when engaged in heated discussions. The charity of the lawyer, the solid stuff, will never suffer when compared with that exercised by men of the other professions, either secular or religious. The lawyer said: "Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" Pretty close and very important question. The Master answered by asking another: "What is written in the law? How readest thou?" A lawyer is a poor stick if he doesn't know the law. This one knew it. He had read and studied it. He answered quickly: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself." The Master told him he had answered right. You have read, and know, the law correctly. "This do and thou shalt live." No gymnastics, playing on those words. Eternal life is yours if you do what you know is the law. Faith is a mighty good thing, but if deficient in works, it is like a kite without a tail. I know men calling themselves Christians and odd-fellows. But they have no works. Where then does the Christian and Odd part come in? The lawyer, probably, thought the law, or the practicing of it, applicable only to his set—his race. He, therefore, lawyer-like, is ready with his plea in evasion. "Willing to justify himself"—not always the lawyer in this particular—"said unto Jesus, and who is my neighbor?" Jesus then came in with the allegory. The lawyer listened, no doubt attentively. They generally do, when you have anything to say. Lawyers are good listeners. I love to talk with them and hear them talk. When the Savior had finished His illustration, He put the direct question: "Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?" He didn't for a moment, according to the evidence, think that either of the two pious frauds was the neighbor. The question admitted one answer. The lawyer gave it: "And he said, he that showed mercy on him." Then Jesus entered up the judgment of the court in these words: "Go, and do thou likewise." That is, you will get eternal life if you do. The same command teaching that he would be an odd fellow. I hope the lawyer went and did as he was told. And that you, my reader, will do likewise. Riding the goat, climbing poles, staying out late at night—telling your wife you have been at the lodge trying a brother or sitting up with a sick one when you haven't. Making signs and giving the grip will not make you odd; but doing as the great Teacher commands will. Are you doing that? Then you know what oddfellowship is, whether you are a member of the lodge or the church, or both, or neither. Once in a while you hear the lodge secret society condemned by outsiders who think it a menace and damage to the church. The thing doesn't hold water. The most active men in the lodge are usually dingo in the church. And between benevolent societies and the church of God there can be no antagonism. They stand for the same thing. The text shows what that thing is. A lodge or church going back on this teaching repudiates the Word of God. The odd fellow in any relation, religious or otherwise, never forgets the all seeing eye of God that is on him. The church member true to his vow never forgets it. In the work for humanity the beauty of union and aggregated effort should be seen among all who recognize the Supreme Being.

And when the church or lodge has carried out this principle of oddfellowship it complies with the law. "We command you to visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead and educate the orphan." Does the Bible command more? Do creeds, man-made, teach anything better? Asheville, N. C. J. C. Troy.

As usual, the thermometer keeps up with the times.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. E. Holton.

It's safe to assume that a good all-round fellow is certain to be square.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures dyspepsia because its ingredients are such that it can't help doing so. "The public can rely upon it as a master remedy for all disorders arising from imperfect digestion."—James M. Thomas, M. D.; in American Journal of Health, N. Y. Howard Gardner.

Cold facts are not often brought to light in a heated argument.

Hamilton Clarke, of Chauncy, Ga., says he suffered with itching piles twenty years before trying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, two boxes of which completely cured him. Beware of worthless and dangerous counterfeits. Howard Gardner.

The gas and the lamp don't stand much show when there's a couple of spoony lovers around. They get turned down every time.

No Cure—No Pay.

That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic for Chills and Malaria. It is simply iron and quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults prefer it to bitter, nauseating tonics. Price, 50c.

"This is a dead giveaway," remarked the generous fish monger as he donated a crate of fish to the almshouse.

All weak places in your system effectually closed against disease by DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They cleanse the bowels, promptly cure chronic constipation, regulate the liver, and fill you with new life and vigor. Small, pleasant, sure; never gripe. Howard Gardner.

Is It Right for an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this remedy in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by C. F. Holton, druggist.

"I like to hear a servant girl sing at her work. It shows a good disposition. 'Not always. I think our sins because she has a grudge against us.'"

It may seem strange, but a fellow is happiest in a poker game when he has the blues.

The man who sat down on a bent pin couldn't take it as a joke probably because he couldn't see the point.

An Enterprising Druggist

There are are few men more wide awake or enterprising than C. E. Holton, who spares no pains to secure the best of everything in his line for his many customers. He now has the valuable agency for Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. This is the wonderful remedy that is producing such a furor all over the country by its startling cures. It absolutely cures asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness, and all affections of the throat, chest and lungs. Call at the above drug store and get a trial bottle free or a regular size for 50 cents and 4c. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

For the Firemen's Tournament was published in the papers with one exception, and that was, instead of stopping at the court house, they ought to have added: From there everybody will go to the Greensboro Pressing Club and have their suit or uniform neatly cleaned and pressed.

"Nothing Succeeds
Like Success"

Still, Success (temporary)
Ruins Many

We have been moderately successful in the clothing business, but our heads are not swelled one bit.

Why?

Because we have realized that we are dependent upon a generous public for success. Of course our own efforts count for something, but without the confidence and aid of our fellow men we would be a unit in this vast universe of trade.

We want your confidence, we want your business; and if prices, values and courteous treatment will get it (and it will) we will have it.

ORDINANCE.

The following ordinance relating to dogs (as amended) was passed at the meeting of the Board July 25, 1899.

Section 142 "It shall be the duty of all owners of dogs or slugs in the city to procure from the collector, on paying the proper tax, a medal, as above described, which shall be attached to said animal; and any owner of a dog or slug in the city failing or refusing to procure such medal and attach it to said animal shall upon conviction be fined $5.00."

By order of the Board of Aldermen,
John S. Michaux,
City Clerk.

"This assignment," remarked the sporty reporter, who had been detailed to look after a coal yard conflagration while wearing his duck trousers, "is just the kind that suits me."

"I hope," remarked the lovelorn youth, "that you will bear me out when I speak to your father." "I don't think it will be necessary," returned the maid coldly; "he'll probably attend to that himself."

Nell—"I was just undressing when the burglar entered my room." Belle—"Gracious! Weren't you terribly embarrassed?" "Not after I found I was covered with a revolver."
